

Help the clownfish find its anemone!

START

FINISH

DID YOU KNOW?

Clownfish have a symbiotic (mutually beneficial) relationship with the stinging anemones they live in. The anemone provides a safe home and hiding place for the clownfish without stinging it. Clownfish return the favor by scaring away predators, feeding the anemone with their waste, and cleaning the anemone.